BEAUVAIS, A TOWN OF ART AND HISTORY

Since 2012, Beauvais has been proud to carry the prestigious "Town of Art and History" award. Awarded by the French Ministry of Culture, this recognition of excellence highlights the richness of our heritage and also rewards the quality of our efforts to raise awareness of the history of Beauvais and its architecture.

Beauvais is a two-thousand-year-old town with its central cathedral boasting the world's tallest Gothic choir; it is a town rich in artisanry that has continued a pottery tradition for several millennia, and which has been home to tapestry production for over 350 years, and a town that has twice won a "fleur d'or" award for its gardens. Beauvais boasts a wide variety of built, intangible and natural heritage. As well as its historic monuments, the town is also full of architectural details that visitors can admire while walking around.

Thanks to the initiatives undertaken to gain the "Town of Art and History" award, this heritage has been made accessible to as many people as possible through the organisation of guided tours, adaptation for young visitors, exhibitions, publications and visitation itineraries.

History and heritage

1 SAINT-PIERRE CATHEDRAL

Saint-Pierre Cathedral dominates the city of Beauvais with its impressive dimensions: its 13th century Gothic choir, 48m high, is the highest in history and was considered the "Parthenon of French architecture" by the famous architectural restorer Eugène Viollet-le-Duc. If it had been completed, Beauvais cathedral would undoubtedly be one of the greatest Gothic buildings in the world, but the audacity of its builders prevented the nave from being built. Unique consequence: in Beauvais, two cathedrals still stand side by side, as if suspended between two eras. The old cathedral known as "la Basse Œuvre" (The Lower Creation) is a precious testimony to the architecture of the year 1000.

Did you know?

2025: the 800th anniversary of Beauvais Saint-Pierre Cathedral. This will manifest in 12 months of festive, cultural and artistic events, including conferences, concerts, exhibitions and shows in a wide range of fields: the arts, science, literature and even sport!

1 THE CLOCKS OF THE CATHEDRAL

Standing an imposing 12 metres high, Auguste-Lucien Vérité's astronomical clock is impressive for the wealth of information it displays: seasons, tides, eclipses, etc. This 19th century masterpiece comes to life several times a day, bringing 68 automata to life in perfect synchronisation. A unique experience to share with the whole family! Another treasure within the cathedral is the 14th century medieval clock: one of the oldest working chiming clocks, it is not to be missed. To discover the history of this clock and the cathedral with your family, audio guides are available to hire in 5 languages from the welcome desk.

2 SAINT-ETIENNE CHURCH

A remarkable example of the transition between Romanesque and Gothic art, the church of Saint-Étienne looked over the large number of churches that dotted the historic centre of Beauvais in the Middle Ages, when it was known as a "town of chimes". It still bears a collection of stained glass windows created in the 16th century by the Le Prince family, a dynasty of master glassmakers from Beauvais who were renowned during the Renaissance. The Tree of Jesse, the church's most famous stained glass window, illuminates everything with its brilliant colours.

After many months of refurbishment work, the palace reopens its doors on 22 March 2025, with a brand new tour of the 19th and 20th century collections. At the heart of the visit is a Ciap (Centre for the Interpretation of Architecture and Heritage), a generous exhibition accessible to all, presenting the history and development of the town over the last 2,000 years. Finally, after major excavation works and the creation of a special walkway, the archaeological crypt is now open to the public for the first time. You'll discover the foundations of a Roman public square, as well as many other treasures!

5 SAINT-LAZARE LEPER HOUSE

The Saint-Lazare Leper House is a key heritage and tourist site in the Beauvais area. Built in the 12th and 13th centuries, it is a remarkable example of medieval hospital architecture. The main building, the Romanesque chapel, the barn and its original oak roof frame make up the unique ensemble of what is one of the best-preserved leper houses in Europe. From spring onwards, visitors can also stroll along the paths of the contemporary, medieval-inspired garden. Book an individual or group visit, or try your hand at a fun "escape game", the ideal way to delve into the history of the site and discover it from new angles. An experience not to be missed!

6 TROISSEREUX CHÂTEAU

Welcome to a furnished 15th and 16th century château with a surprising history. The guided tour is led by the owners. Troissereux has a history stretching back two millennia, and the château itself has a very distinctive architectural style. It has an alchemy tower, which is also a chronometric tower, and housed a medieval clock, now on display in the chapel. The architecture of the tower is also surprising in itself: round at the base, it is topped by a square area and then a triangular space.

9 NATIONAL MANUFACTORY OF TAPESTRY

Founded in 1664 by Colbert, the Beauvais Tapestry Manufactory was created under the reign of Louis XIV, like the famous Gobelins and Aubusson manufactories. Now housed in the former 19th century town abattoirs, it continues the usage traditional skills, including the basse-lisse technique that is the hallmark of Beauvais tapestries. As in the 17th and 18th centuries with Charles Lebrun and François Boucher, great creators are the great artists of the 21st century.

HIKING

Take in the fresh air on hilly trails, peaceful forests or landscaped greenways, and get away from it all. The Tourist Office has signposted footpaths for you to explore, alternating between the villages and their small heritage sites, the cereal-growing plains with their shimmering early summer colours, the banks of bucolic rivers such as the Liovette through Guignecourt and the shady paths through the forest at La Neuville-en-Hez. This beech and oak forest, part of which is state-owned, offers a number of footpaths, a botanical trail and 4 remarkable trees: the chandelier oak, the Saint-Lucien oak, the Saint-Louis oak and the Croix-le-Comte beech.

Along the way, you'll come across other curiosities such as a tithe barn, ancient graffiti, the remains of a castle or abbey or a monumental wine press... They'll be just some of the highlights of your discoveries.

A breath of fresh air for mountain bikers and tourists with a clear proposition: this is the concept behind the mountain bike sites that have been granted the Fédération Française de Cyclisme award. There are 2 possible starting points in our region: the Canada lake and its leisure centre in Beauvais or La Neuville-en-Hez and the Hez-Froidmont forest. When you come to the area, you can take advantage of 298 km of footpaths and 25 different routes (on foot and mountain bike).
